

Dear Sirs, I am responding to preceding RM-10787. As you know WRC-03
Has eliminated the international requirement to prove Morse ability.
To date there have been a total of six countrys'that have eliminated this requirement. There are two others that soon will do the same.
The U.S. requirement of the Element 1 code test should also be eliminated.The various "Computer" modes have proved to be more than adiquate and vasly superior in radio communication. The elimination of the Morse proficiency would in no way diminish Amateur Radio emergency function or any other aspect of Amateur community assistance.
Thank you for the oppertunity to comment.
Vincent Garcell (WA6VJG)